hello leaf

Travel writers are always rushing around iconic landmarks and they capture their general impression of it all.

WOW
The world is huge
and complicated

and it is difficult to decide what to focus on.

Every window of every building contains a story every rock on every mountain is interesting.

As I wander the streets near my house

I come across a tiny leaf

autumn has long passed, how long has it sat here?

it is a perfect, tiny joy and I wish I had time to give to every leaf I see.

@dorrismccomics